New Border Voices: An Anthology

Synopsis

When the 'counter-canon' itself becomes canonized, it's time to reload. This is the notion that animates New Border Voices, an anthology of recent and rarely seen writing by Borderlands artists from El Paso to Brownsville and a hundred miles on either side. Challenging the assumption that borderlands writing is the privileged product of the 1970s and '80s, the vibrant community represented in this collection offers tasty bits of regional fare that will appeal to a wide range of readers and students. Among the contributions are: Introduction for Texas Letters; Jos   E. Lim  n The Texas-Mexico Border: This Writer's Sense of Place; Rolando Hinojosa-Smith The Rain Parade; Paul Pedroza

Borders transition for an array of reasons, time being the indicator of how a new generation comes to rely on the histories of their land(s), reminiscing about what was and accepting (not eloquently though) that change alters realities. This anthology of voices are direct proof of how recent experiences, particularly in the Southwest region, have caused a metamorphosis in our communities. We slowly alienate ourselves from our ties to el otro lado because in our minds, borders close and fears become our distances. As a fan of many of the prolific authors who form a part of this anthology, I am delighted current reflections from the border are represented well.

Collection of contemporary writing from both sides of the border, revealing human complexities.
Well chosen selections.

Great collection of stories.

Wonderful anthology of Border writing. Great selection of work, especially the story by Katherine Lane....
