Queen Of The North Wind: A Play In Two Acts

Synopsis

Eleanor of Aquitaine was named for her mother "Aenor" and was known as "Alienor" which means the "other Aenor". Mr. Herman uses this name in the "QUEEN OF THE NORTH WIND" instead of the familiar "Eleanor". Alienor inherited the largest and most valued real estate in the Feudal world. She was sought after and coveted not only for her beauty but because any union with her would greatly increase the domains of whomever she married. Louis of France won the coveted prize and married this beautiful, practical and lively girl of 14 years. At the age of 19 she joined Louis on the second crusade with vassals from her Aquitaine along with 300 noble ladies and servants. Her marriage to King Louis VII of France was not compatible and was annulled in 1152. Alienor left her two daughters to be raised in France and retired to the Abbey at Fontevrault. A year later Henry of Anjou visited her and convinced her to marry him. There's was a volatile relationship, well documented by history. "QUEEN OF THE NORTH WIND" opens in the Abbey Fontevrault with Alienor, age 80. where she reminisces about her early life with the Abbess Matilda. This segues into scenes where "Young Alienor" age 30+ meets with her Aunts Sybilla and the Abbess Isabella. They conduct a lively conversation that covers her life with Henry of Anjou, soon to be King Henry II of England and circles around to where we found her in the beginning. This play is a snapshot of the life of Eleanor of Aquitaine and is a quick insight into her life.
